The Training for Trainers LAB will provide the knowledge and skills needed to deliver the LEADERLABS 10 Essential Skills of Executive Leadership eight Lab Program. At the conclusion of the training participants will be certified to use Dr. Garmon’s fundamental design, content, slides, and ideas to build their own training programs, carrying on the LeaderLabs’ tradition of “Developing the Leader in You.”

Being able to deliver the 10ES program begins with knowing the content extremely well. It helps if you have gone through the 10 ES program or another of the LeaderLabs programs, i.e., 2.0 or 3.0.

Either way, each participant will be sent, prior to the LABS, complete digital packet including all twenty-four, thirty-minute, sessions. The digital packet contains the CORE CONTENT of the 10 Essential Skills program. Each participant is REQUIRED to watch and take notes on all 24 sessions PRIOR TO attending the T4T LABS. Even if you've graduated from one of the LeaderLab programs.

Without a thorough knowledge of the content, you will not be able to facilitate the program. You must become a SUBJECT MATTER EXPERT (SME) concerning the concepts, theories, and models contained in the material. This also means that participants will have to chase a lot of rabbits, digging deep into the ideas contained in the 10ES program.

The people in your audience MUST see you as an SME if you are to earn their trust. This means you'll also have to be able to answer their questions concerning the material. Spending time digging deep and becoming a life-long, continual learner is essential.

The T4T LAB will not only explore the substantive content of the 10ES program, but the training will also explore the process of facilitating the training itself.

Training the Trainer, or the 10ES instructor training LABS will, not only discuss the practical instructional design behind the LABS, it will also explore teaching techniques that will assist in building the confidence needed to deliver the content while facilitating learning that ensures retention.

It is my desire to find select individuals with a passion, commitment, initiative, and a disciplined work ethic; people I can pour myself into with the hope of continuing and enlarging the Christian leadership development revolution that has been started.

Thank you for your interest in LeaderLabs.

I look forward to hearing from you.
